Weekly English Tasks
This week's writing task This does not need to be completed in one day, spread the activities out through the week.	https://soundcloud.com/talkforwriting/fishes Over the next few weeks you are going to be focusing on a story called 'The King Of The Fishes' adapted by Pie Corbett and retold by Jo Pearce. This is a traditional tale that has many different versions. 1. Click on the link above and listen to the story, perhaps you could draw a few pictures as you listen, for you to look at later on. 2. Once you have listened to the story, discuss with an adult or someone within your household what happened and who the characters were. Listen to it again if you need to. 3. At the bottom of this learning menu, you will find a written copy of this tale. Look through the text and highlight/note down any words that you don't know the meaning of. Just like we do at school, use a dictionary to find the meaning of these words, you can use an online dictionary if you don't have one at home. You can use Google Images see pictures of the word you are trying to find. 4. See if you can find the answers to my questions below. You can write these on a piece of paper or type them.

- a) What did Li usually do with the fish that he caught?
- b) What was special about the king of the fishes?
- c) How did Li save the King of the Fishes?
- d) How long did it take Li to decide on his wish?
- e) Whose baby did Li hear at the end?

Challenge! I would like you to research and create your own leaflet/ PowerPoint/Poster about the different types of fish that can be found in the sea. Can you draw/copy and paste some images to support your research? It is important you use your own words, do not just copy and paste the research you find.

I would love to see these! Don't forget to share them to info@worlabyacademy.org.uk

Reading task

Before accessing the free EBooks, you will need to register and create your own account. There are no incurring costs from this and you can then download the EBooks for free throughout the duration of school closures.

This week's challenge is to read 'The Wrong Letter.' You will find it in the age 7 - 9 section of the website above.

Before starting the book please encourage your child to use the front cover and blurb to predict what they think will happen in the story. Ask them why they think this and what there is on the cover/blurb to support their ideas?

Throughout the book, they may come across unfamiliar vocabulary, please take the opportunity to research the definition of these words together, preferably using a dictionary but if you do not have access to a dictionary, then look the words up online. At school the children have been developing their dictionary skills by finding the first 3 letters to begin with and identifying the word from there. It would be helpful if you could support your children to do this.

Question:

What do you think will happen at the next football match Pippa plays in? Will she score another goal?

Challenge:

Year 4: Home-School Learning Menu 27.04.20

	Can you hold your own football game at home with others in your household? You don't need a goal net to play, just use 2 markers as the goal- one at each side! You might need to write your own rules for the game, so everyone is aware of how to play. If you don't have a football, could you invent your own game to play outdoors? Don't forget to share your pictures and ideas to info@worlabyacademy.org.uk

The King Of The Fishes

Once upon a time there was a poor fisherman called Li.

Every day, he went down to the sea to fish. There he stood on the rocks and threw the nets into the icy waters and waited. When he pulled the nets in, he would take any fish back to the market and sell them.

One day, he caught a huge fish. It had silver scales that glittered in the sunlight, blood–red fins and a golden crown.

It was so beautiful that Li stood, amazed, staring at the fish as it thrashed about in the net. Suddenly Li felt guilty. It was so beautiful, and surely it must have a family...

So, he scooped it up out of the net and set it free. Li stood watching as the fish swam out to sea. Then, to his amazement, it turned and spoke to him.

“Li, you have saved the King of the Fishes. I grant you one wish. When the moon is high in the sky, come back here and tell me your heart’s desire.’ With a flick of his fin, the King of the Fishes was gone. Immediately, Li hurried home, wondering what on earth he should wish for. There were so many things that his family needed.

First, he asked his elderly father. “Father, if you had one wish, what would it be?” There was a silence and then his father spoke, ‘Why son, I would wish for new eyes, for I am blind and will never see again.’

Next, he asked his mother. “Mother, if you had one wish, what would it be?” His mother thought for a minute and then said, “Why son, I would wish for money, for the roof needs mending and the winter winds whip through the house and make my bones shiver so.”

Finally, he asked his beautiful wife. “Wife, if you had one wish, what would it be?”

There was a silence and then his wife whispered, “Why Li, I would wish for a baby, for who will care for us when we are old? Yes, nothing would be more precious than a child.”

Poor Li could not make up his mind – they needed the money certainly, but his father was blind and that was a terrible thing. However, he also knew that a child would bring joy to them all. All evening, Li paced up and down trying to decide what the wish should be. Suddenly, he stopped pacing and grinned. Yes, he had it! He rushed out of the house, through the forest and down to the sea.

The moon was high in the sky and so it was time to talk to the King of the Fishes. Li ran down onto the rocks and stood there with the foam crashing about him. He could see the moon’s reflection on the waves, and then came the King of the Fishes. “What do you wish for Li?” called the King in a high, silvery voice. “I wish for my father to see our son in a cradle made of gold,” shouted Li. There was a silence and the great fish disappeared. The waves stilled and Li could see the stars like silvery freckles in the dark night sky. Then out of the darkness he heard a noise, drifting down through the forest. It was a baby crying...
